

ARCHITECTURAL STANDARDS AND CONSTRUCTION SPECIFICATIONS FOR ALL EXTERIOR CHANGES TO PROPERTY & NEW HOME CONSTRUCTION

FOREWORD

The Board of Directors and the Architectural Control Committee (the Committee) have completed and reviewed these ARCHITECTURAL STANDARDS AND CONSTRUCTION SPECIFICATIONS.

These standards are intended as guidelines to follow when planning exterior changes to your property or for new home construction. Please return completed applications to the address shown on the application form.

Applications will be annotated by the Committee with the date received. This date will be the first day of the review and approval period.

Please read and follow these standards. You must receive approval in writing from the Committee before the start of any exterior change. The Committee is allowed up to 30 days to act on an application. Therefore, do not commit labor or materials until you have received written approval.

Your adherence to these standards and specifications will ensure that you receive a response to your application as soon as possible.

The Centennial Valley Neighborhood Association Board of Directors and the Board's Architectural Review Board present the following standards designed to assist homeowners in complying with Article 4 stated in the Declaration of Covenants and Restrictions to obtain prior approval for exterior changes in any property owned individually or in common in Centennial Valley. It is the intended effect that these standards should cause an equitable and consistent handling of all applications for Committee approval.

I. INTRODUCTION

In Centennial Valley, the questions naturally arise as to how to maintain a harmonious, quality development as the community matures. The following standards attempt to provide a meeting ground between private interests and the broader interest of the Centennial Valley community.

Control for maintaining the quality of design is through the Declaration of Covenants and Restrictions of the Centennial Valley Neighborhood Association, Inc. The covenants run with the land and are binding on all homeowners (members) and should be fully understood.

The fact that each homeowner is subject to these covenants should assure all homeowners that the standards of design quality will be maintained, enhancing the community's overall environment and protecting property values.

The formal request and approval process is necessary to assure that every owner's desire to improve his or her property can be given due process without discrimination. It will also provide the owner(s), the Committee and the Association Board with a permanent record of actions taken under the Declaration.

The Declaration establishes an Architectural Control Committee comprised of three or more representatives appointed by the Board of Directors. Paragraph 4 of the Centennial Valley Declaration requires the prior approval of any exterior change, addition, or alteration to the property. Such changes include any building, fence, wall or other structure that may be added or altered as well as landscaping and outbuildings. Each property owner shall read the Declaration to obtain a full understanding of the Architectural Control Requirements.

The Committee is charged with conducting the review of all applications for exterior changes and rendering a decision to the applicant in writing. If an application is denied, the applicant may appeal to the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors may reverse or modify the Committee's decision by a majority vote of the joint Board of Directors.

The standards which follow are the procedures and guidelines applied by the Architectural Control Committee and the Board of Directors to assist the Association and its members in the design review process. It is hoped that these specifications will serve as a positive tool to assist each homeowner in the full and free use of their property in a manner consistent with the aesthetic and harmonious development to the Centennial Valley community.

II. WHAT MUST HAVE ARCHITECTURAL REVIEW BOARD APPROVAL

The Committee's approval is required for any change in the exterior of a property pursuant to Paragraph 4 and Paragraph 15 of the Declaration. The applicable portion of such articles is shown below.

“No building shall be erected, placed, or altered on any lot until the construction plans and specifications and a plan showing the location of the structure have been approved by the Architectural Control Committee as to the quality of workmanship, size of dwelling, and materials, harmony of external design with existing structures, and as to location with respect to topography and finish grade elevation. No fence or wall shall be erected, placed, or altered on any lot nearer to any street than the minimum building setback line unless similarly approved. All fences and out-buildings constructed shall be approved by the Architectural Control Committee. Out-buildings must have the same quality of construction and same exterior building materials so they will correspond with the house construction.”

“All landscaping plans to be approved by the Architectural Control Committee” This requirement applies to every homeowner's private property.

III. REVIEW CRITERIA

The Committee evaluates each application on the individual merits of each application and decisions are based on the standards in the following sections.

Validity of Concept: The basic idea of the exterior change must be sound and appropriate to its surroundings.

Relationship of Structures and Adjoining Property: The proposed change should relate harmoniously among its surroundings and to existing buildings and terrain that have a visual relationship to the change.

Protection of Neighbors: The interests of neighboring owners should be protected by making provisions for such matters as surface water drainage, sound and sight buffers, preservation of views, light and air, and other aspects of design which may have substantial effects on neighboring property. For example, fences may obstruct views, breezes, or access to neighboring property; dog pens may cause undesirable noises and odors or infringe drastically on views of neighboring property. The Committee should consider the various and appropriate criteria and exercise discretion in determining which of these criteria will be governing in each specific application.

Design Compatibility: The proposed change must be compatible with the design characteristics of the applicant's home and with the general neighborhood setting.

Scale: The three-dimensional scale of the proposed change must relate satisfactorily to adjacent structures and their surroundings. For example, a detached storage building of a disproportionate size to the area in which it is intended to be placed would not be satisfactory.

Materials: Continuity is established using the same or compatible materials as are used in the existing home. For example, an added building should be made of the same or similar materials as the home, likewise the shingles should also be the same or similar.

Workmanship: The quality of work must be equal to or better than that of any existing structures. Poor practices may cause the owner problems and may be visually objectionable to others. For example, a wooden fence not properly treated and maintained may in a short period start to decay and become unsightly to the owner and neighboring property owners.

Timing: A property change may be built or installed by the owners or a contractor. However, projects that remain uncompleted for a long period of time are visually objectionable and can be a nuisance and safety hazard for neighbors and the community. All applications must contain a proposed maximum time period from start to completion of construction of the proposed time period is considered unreasonable, the Committee may disapprove the application. Generally, minor additions should be able to be completed within 30 days whereas more labor-intensive additions may take up to 90 days.

Do not apply for a building permit, purchase materials, or commit to any contractor in anticipation of instant approval by the Committee. Applicants should wait until they have received written application approval by the Committee prior to purchasing or committing to such work. Homeowners should plan well in advance to allow time for application processing-

IV. APPLICATION REVIEW PROCEDURES

The Association's procedures for application, review, inspection, appeal, and enforcement of design review are outlined in this section.
